

"The Center for Health Equity Transformation (CHET), Lexington Kentucky, is located on the original homeland of diverse Native peoples who arrived over 10,000 years ago. The most recent among them were the Shawnee. Today, Kentucky is still home to over 25,000 Native people representing scores of tribal groups. CHET recognizes the injustices Native peoples have endured. Through this statement, we hope to begin the long process of healing."

Joy in the Journey: Triumphs in Lessons Learned Along the Way

December 10th

10:30-11:30am
Room 410A, Healthy Kentucky Research Building
Zoom: <https://uky.zoom.us/j/82889558433>

Dr. Williams is an Associate Professor in the Department of Public Health Sciences at the Medical University of South Carolina (MUSC), with a dual appointment in the Division of Rheumatology. Dr. Williams' research focuses on chronic disease prevention and control, particularly among African Americans, and deploys innovative interventions to achieve health equity. She is involved in numerous research projects, including a project that tests whether a culturally tailored peer mentoring intervention improves disease self-management, indicators of disease activity, and quality of life in African American women with systemic lupus erythematosus (SLE) (NINR R017892: Williams).
